What are Specified Investment Products?

Specified Investment Products (SIPs) have terms and features that require more knowledge to understand.

The current list of SIPs includes:

- Exchange Traded Funds (ETFs)
- Exchange Traded Notes (ETNs)
- Futures (Extended Settlement contracts)
- Structured Warrants
- Futures
- Options

More of such products may be introduced to the market in the future.

What is SGX's Customer Account Review Module?

This is an online module that allows investors to provide information such as education and professional qualifications, work and investment experience to enable the broking firms to assess whether their customers have the relevant knowledge and experience to invest using Specified Investment Products. You only need to complete the information once in this module.

Where can I learn more about SGX-listed Specified Investment Products?

Log on to the SGX Online Education to learn more about the basic terms and features of various types of SIPs listed on SGX. You can go through this at your own time and pace.
